Dear Supporter:

Thank you for your support to Silicone Studios, LLC, an Iowa limited liability company (“Silicone Studios”) to help make the Repaint Tray a reality! Throughout this agreement I may refer to Silicone Studios as “us” or “we”.

We very much appreciate your support and trust. By purchasing this level, you are agreeing to the terms in this Support Agreement (the “Agreement”). Depending on your support level, you may be eligible to receive the rewards associated with the level. We do not guarantee any return of your support, or any reward associated with your support until we are able to successfully manufacture at least 10,000 usable Repaint Trays.

Whether or not any Repaint Trays are “successfully” manufactured will be determined within the sole discretion of Silicone Studios. Dates of manufacture and production are yet to be determined. Funds will not be returned should Silicone Studios, LLC fail to produce a product. Therefore, any return of any of your support is not guaranteed and you should not financially support or enter into this Agreement with Silicone Studios unless you are prepared to lose any funds you have used to support us.

Additionally, this support will not entitle you to any equity in Silicone Studios. We are not offering any equity in Silicone Studios. Further, Silicone Studios, as a limited liability company, is a for-profit business, meaning any support given should not and cannot be classified as any donation to be deducted from your taxes as charitable giving.

Any support given by you to Silicone Studios will be used for general working capital purposes, such as, but not limited to, manufacturing, engineering, design, advertising, travel expenses, shipping, packaging and promotional materials.

In addition, you can trust that your personal information shared through this site will not be stored or shared.

Thank you for your support in us and the future of the Repaint Tray!
